

The Harris County Sheriff's Office in collaboration with Texas Children's Hospital, the Urban Institute, and the National Institute of Corrections present the following resources for families of incarcerated parents. We hope you find this information informative and helpful in discussing the difficult topic of incarceration with children.

In addition, we have added a link for local resources (medical care, food, job training, and more) you may find beneficial.

Below, we list resources by target audience and then by content category; book lists; and activities for visits.

Activities:

1. Play games such as Simon Says, I Spy, Charades or Tic-Tac-Toe
2. Sing songs with hand actions like Head, Shoulders, Knees, and Toes or The Itsy-Bitsy Spider.
3. Play Storyteller Pass-Along: Watch the clock for one minute while someone starts a story. When the minute has passed, it's the other person's turn to pick up where the first left off and move the tale forward. Continue switching back and forth until the story ends.
4. Recite nursery rhymes together (or recite them to very young children).
5. Read a favorite picture book and show the pictures to each other. Let them read one (or tell the story from pictures) to you.
6. Draw each other—as realistically or as silly as you can.
7. Play word games together.
8. Color together on blank paper, printable pages, or coloring books.
9. Come up with a “me board” – envisioning your goals, interests, family, and best traits.
